

TRACIE ATHANASIUS Bio & Backgrounder

LEAD VOCAL

Tracie Athanasius (A-tha-nae-see-us) sings the lead vocal on We Come To Pray. Tracie was born in Halifax and raised in Calgary where she was exposed to music ranging from Gospel to Motown. A youth conference exposed her to contemporary Christian music which she performed with a passion. Tracie wrote with her first song at age 12 and was still a teenager when three of her songs were recorded by a US gospel singer.

Following high school, Tracie moved to Toronto to “discover herself.” Disconnected from family and church, she began singing in popular nightclubs and drifted away from God. While she learned how to interpret and communicate the heart of a song, Tracie knew there was a spiritual vacuum in her life. She longed for family and to reconnect with God.

Tracie returned to Calgary where Christian music played a key role in helping her rediscover her faith. She was asked to join the music staff at St. Michael’s Catholic Church and is the worship leader each Sunday night in an auditorium packed with teens and young adults. She was featured on the recent release of St. Michael’s Life Teen Worship Band’s Now.

Tracie met and married Jacey and the couple has three daughters. She is proud to be “a nail painting, cupcake baking, wife, mother and warrior in the army of the Lord!”
